The HOME team is the City of Alhambra's initial point of contact with individuals and families experiencing homelessness or struggling with mental health problems.

The HOME Team is comprised of an Alhambra Police Officer, a Psychiatric Social Worker from the Los Angeles County Department of Mental Health, and Homeless Outreach Navigator from L.A. CADA.

The team works together to assess each situation and identify how to assist individual needs with a range of solutions. Whether homelessness has been caused by loss of income, mental health problems, substance abuse, lack of job training, or other issues, there are options available to assist each person.

The HOME Team's approach provides not only short-term answers but also develops permanent solutions for our most vulnerable community members.
